New trade show date for Solids & Recycling-Technik Dortmund

(Dortmund) Due to the current corona situation, the trade show Solids & Recycling-Technik Dortmund will be postponed to 24th and 25th June 2020. In close cooperation with the City of Dortmund and the health authorities, the organiser Easyfairs is postponing the industry event to June for the safety of visitors and exhibitors.

In order to protect the health of everyone involved, the organiser Easyfairs has decided, in consultation with the City of Dortmund and the health authorities, to postpone the date of the trade show Solids & Recycling-Technik. The trade show duo originally scheduled for the beginning of April will be rescheduled to a new date on 24th and 25th June 2020. With this decision, the organiser Easyfairs is not only following the urgent recommendations of Health Minister Spahn and the specifications of the Dortmund authorities.

"We take our responsibility as organisers very seriously and fully support the decision in accordance with the specifications of the NRW Ministry. Protecting the participants from possible contagion has absolute priority", Sandrina Schempp, Event Director of Solids & Recycling-Technik, explains the decision. All tickets or registrations purchased so far will remain valid and can be used to visit the exhibition duo on the alternative date in June.

New date at the Dortmund show in June

The organiser Easyfairs has succeeded in finding a new date for this important industry event with Messe Dortmund. On 24th and 25th June 2020 exhibitors and visitors will be able to exchange ideas and information on solutions for bulk materials and recycling technology as planned. The alternative date for the trade show duo is intended to enable visitors and exhibitors to exchange information and make contacts in what will then once again be an unimpaired atmosphere.
